CHINESE BAIJIU

Kinesisk spritdryck som druckits i över 1000 år. Namnet betyder bokstävligt tålat "vit sprit" eller "vit alkohol". Det rör sig i själva verket om starksprit, med en alkoholhalt på mellan 40% och 60%. Skulle kunna jämföras med den svenska brännvinet. Det finns 4 kategorier av baijiu – Sauce Aroma (酱香), Strong Aroma (浓香), Light Aroma (清香), and Rice Aroma (米香).

Fetian I Kweichow Moutai I Guizhou I Sauce Aroma I 53%

Awarded as the "Official State Liquor of China". A highly controversial profile - like it or hate it. Not recommended for beginners but highly recommended for experienced drinkers. Made from wheat and sorghum. Best enjoyed with the meal.

National Cellar I Luzhou Laojiao I Sichuan I Strong Aroma I 52%

Awarded as China's "National Cellar", and the largest distilleries of Strong Aroma Baijiu in China. Its legacy can be traced back 5 centuries, with the original cellars dating back to 1573. It is not as controversial as Moutai due to its fruity nose, and palate notes of pineapple, liquorice, and a distinct dryness. Made from a blend of five organic ingredients, broomcorn, glutinous rice, rice, wheat and corn. Best enjoyed with the meal.
